WHAT THE CRITICS ARE SAYING:

TV SOURCE MAGAZINE:

“Kylie Sparks has the ability to reel you in, make you care for (their) characters, and makes sure they will be okay in the end.

(They’re) the kind of (person) you root for because you want to, not because you’re told to.”

VARIETY:

“Sparks and Embry breathe new life into what might have been the stereotypical parts of fat girl and hunk” (Pizza)

THE LONDON TIMES:

“Sparks is a likeable presence as the full figured girl with the outsized vocabulary” (Pizza)

THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER:

“Sparks brings an openness and resilience to the role of a misfit with high ambitions and an overdeveloped vocabulary.” (Pizza)

MURPHY’S MOVIE REVIEWS:

“Sparks is a real find. (They) manage to convey both the naivete of a young girl with the world-weariness of a mature adult. Their scenes together sparkle and crackle.” (Pizza)

FILM FORCE:

“Sparks has an appropriate name. (They’re) full of energy and creates a character that is loveable and full of life.” (Pizza)

A.V. CLUB:

“Christopher has a remarkable asset in Sparks, who looks like a rounded Hope Davis and acts like a total spaz. (They’re) exuberant, warm, and adorably pathetic.” (Pizza)

THE TEMPLE NEWS:

“Sparks puts on a brilliant performance. Sure to strike a chord with anyone who has ever felt left out and just wants a sense of belonging.” (Pizza)

NEW YORK POST:

“Engaging newcomer Kylie Sparks and Ethan Embry are likable oddballs.” (Pizza)

COMEDY TV IS DEAD:

NUMBER ONE ON CTViD “WOMEN/NONBINARY FOLKS TO WATCH” LIST

“...Sparks’ prolific work in acting and producing is why we think [they’re] an exciting character to follow”

GUMBO MAGAZINE:

“Keep an eye out for Kylie Sparks, because you just might see (them) on a regular basis.”

EXCLUSIVE: Fictionz, a female-centric narrative podcast subscription app, is launching in mid-October with dramas featuring Judy Greer (Halloween Kills) as a manic Hollywood agent, Jeanine Mason (Roswell: New Mexico), Max Greenfield (The Neighborhood), and Michael Trevino (Roswell: New Mexico).

4. SQUARESVILLE Esther and Zelda are two precocious BFFs trying to banter their way through the agonies and ecstasies of high school on this gentle, wry Web series, which just launched its second season. (squaresvilleseries.com)

THE WALKING DEAD: TINA ROWDEN/AMC; SKYFALL: FRANCOIS DUHAMEL

3. SKYFALL, DVD and download

From its Adele-crooned theme song to Javier Bardem's creepy-charismatic villain to the melancholy-tinged thrills, the 23rd James Bond movie is a near-perfect (shaken, not stirred) cocktail. If you're DVD-inclined, be sure to cue up director Sam Mendes' insightful commentary track. (Rated PG-13)
